

THE JOURNAL OF TOKYO MEDICAL UNIVERSITY
Vol. 80, No. 3
CONTENTS

Foreword

NAKAMURA Y. 167

Review

IWAMOTO J. : Current status and future perspectives of drug-induced gastrointestinal injury 169
AKASAKA J. : Relationship between spinal cord ischemia and Adamkiewicz artery. 181

Articles

KUSAKAWA G., KASHIWAGI Y., ABE Y. et al. : Significance of 25-hydroxy vitamin D in early infants infected with respiratory syncytial virus 189 SAISHO J., SUZUKI S., NISHIMATA S. et al. : Cytokine profiling and MEFV gene analysis of Japanese patients with periodic fever, aphthous stomatitis, pharyngitis, and adenitis syndrome 202

Case Report

NAKAYAMA T., NISHIMATA S., TAKAHASHI H. et al. : Liver dysfunction and neutrophilia associated with overdose of dietary supplement : a case report. 211

Plaza

KASUGA H., FUJINUMA S., ARAI S. et al. : Survey of residents needs around Tokyo medical university campus : on health, medical care, and welfare 218 OIKAWA T., YAKAZU Y., WATANABE H. et al. : Questionnaire survey on Kampo medical education to medical interns in Tokyo Medical University Hospitals 225

Introducing My Article

YAMADA A. : Relevance of diffusion-weighted imaging with background body signal suppression for staging, prognosis, morphology, treatment response, and pparent diffusion coefficient in plasma-cell
neoplasms : A single-center, retrospective study. 232
HARADA Y. : Medical School Staff's Standardized Patient Experience Alters their Understanding of Student Education. 233

Pivotal Meeting Report

USUI Y. : Japanese Ophthalmological Society 234

Research Meeting

74th TCVC (Tokyo Cardiovascular Conference) 238

Clinical Conferences

Abstracts of the 503rd Clinical Conference
Managements of Nevoid Basal Cell Carcinoma Syndrome with ovarian tumors 240
Abstracts of the 504th Clinical Conference
A case of gastrointestinal perforation with low cardiac function which is successfully treated by multidisciplinary management 251